Colorado Thought Leaders Forum Brings Value To Denver Business Community

Denver, CO May 6, 2009 – A diverse group of Colorado business owners and leaders has formed a new non-profit organization - Colorado Thought Leaders Forum (CTLF). CTLF is a local non-profit whose goal is to enable Colorado business leaders to succeed by delivering value-rich content around timely business issues, trends, and ideas that affect the Colorado business community.

Founders, Greg Greenwood (President/CEO & Founder, comCables) and Bob Neuman (Co founder and Executive Vice President, Teammates Commercial Interiors) recognized a need in the marketplace for an organization whose focus is to bring significant, actionable ideas that the Colorado business community could implement right-away; not only in the current business climate but going forward.

CTLF's signature event will be held on July, 22nd. Renowned economist Brian Beaulieu will speak to an exclusive audience of Colorado business executives about "Economic Trends in the New Business Climate."

"This event will provide relevant insight into how current economic trends impact Colorado businesses." noted CTLF Co-founder, Greg Greenwood. "And in light of the current economy, we feel Brian's 96% accuracy in forecasting economic trends makes him an invaluable resource for helping Colorado businesses leaders execute on those insights."

About Colorado Thought Leaders Forum (CTLF)

Colorado Thought Leaders Forum (CTLF) is a Colorado non-profit organization whose goal is to stay in the forefront of timely business issues, trends, and ideas and deliver them to the Denver business community through value-rich content; more importantly, providing this content to the business community in a way that can be immediately actionable.

CTLF was formed by Greg Greenwood and Bob Neuman on the idea that Colorado business leaders need a place to connect around timely marketplace occurrences via world class resources. Rather than delivering products and services; they wanted to invite Colorado-based business leaders to spearhead value creation to the business community at large.

The founding board members are Greg Greenwood of comCables, Bob Neuman of Teammates Commercial Interiors, Matt Ward of Inward-Charles Construction, John Couzens of Trinity Capital Services, Matt Emerson of CEAVCO Audio Visual, Frank Milinazzo of The BizSolux Group, Carolyn Paul of Bank of the West and Corey Needles of Latisys.
